

Kevin Williams, BA hon. Cert Ed

Me in less than 140 characters

A thoughtful individual who enjoys life.

Why did I become a Governor?

I have a passion for Education having worked in the sector for 21 years. This was my opportunity to give something back to the community.

Potted history

Left School at 16 and completed an apprenticeship in Electrical Engineering. Joined the Health Service and worked as an electrician, technician and ultimately electrical engineer. Moved to Lincoln College in 1993, lecturing in Electrical Engineering. My current role is Director of Curriculum for Construction, Engineering and International sections of the College. I have two older children who both attended Nettleham Junior School.